Poinsettias Add Color to Christmas

Nothing brings home the color and beauty of Christmas like a vibrant, lush poinsettia.

Poinsettias brighten your home and, like other houseplants, help purify and humidify your indoor air. They take in carbon dioxide, give off oxygen and remove airborne toxins.

Several scientific studies have proven that poinsettias are not toxic to small children and pets. According to those who have sampled a bite, the plant has a discouraging, bitter taste. Ingestion of any part of the plant may cause mild stomach upset, if anything at all.

Meadow View takes pride in producing only the finest varieties of poinsettias for your holiday enjoyment. Stop in and experience the sea of color, from brilliant red, to ivory white, to rich burgundy. Choose the color that best suits your taste.

Diane and Teresa beam with Christmas cheer among Meadow View's poinsettias. Did you know that the colorful parts of poinsettias are leaves, or bracts—not flower petals? The actual flowers are the small yellow "buds" in the center of the plant. This bit of trivia doesn't change the fact that poinsettias bring holiday cheer like no other flower.

Just the Right Gift

At Meadow View we have the solution for hard-to-buy-for friends and relatives. Gift cards!

We sell them in any denomination, $10 and up. They have no expiration date and no maintenance or processing fees, unlike other gift cards. If you're short on time, you can purchase cards online 24/7 at www.meadowview.com. Just go to "Products" and click on "Gift Cards," then "on-line store." You can also buy them over the phone, at 937-845-0093, during business hours, with your credit card.

Kids Club Is Back!

Kids Club meets at 10 a.m. the first Saturday of each month through April 2010, offering adventures in gardening. Cost is just $5 per session. Or for a $25 membership, kids can attend all sessions through April. Visit www.meadowview.com for details.
